Total Loss Event Privilege

Every vehicle owner should consider…

If you experience a total loss and your insurer only pays the fair market value of your vehicle, your cost to get into a replacement vehicle could be significant.

Consider:

- The cost to purchase a brand new vehicle
- Replacement of accessories from your previous vehicle (winter tires, etc.)
- The deposit for your next purchase
- The outstanding debt on your original loan

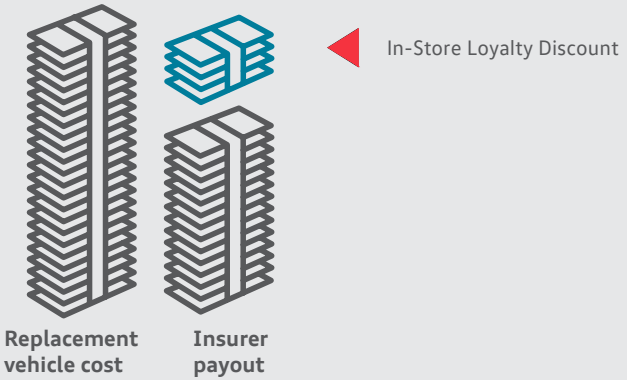

The facts

- Close to 95,600 vehicles were stolen in Canada in 2024[1]
- Each year, approximately 20% of physical damage claims in Canada result in a vehicle being deemed a total loss[2]

Partial Loss Event Privilege

Did you know?

If you have a fender-bender and your vehicle is repaired, you could have a damage record on your vehicle's history report. In many cases, a damage declaration can decrease the resale value of your vehicle.

We can assist

The Partial Loss Event Privilege provides an in-store loyalty discount towards a replacement vehicle at the time of purchase should you have a damage declaration record on your vehicle's history report.

The statistics[3]

- Annually, more than 240,000 vehicles in Canada claim collision damages
- The average repair bill for a collision is over $5,700, which often results in a damage record, accelerating the depreciation of your vehicle
